

The number of international tourists to Greece increased significantly in July 2022

Greece is one of the most preferred tourist destinations in the world. The beautiful Mediterranean Sea has always attracted travelers from around the world.

A total of 14 airports in Greece witnessed a significant increase in international tourist arrivals in the month of July this year. Foreign tourist traffic at regional airports across the country reached 5.127 million in July, up from 4.49 million in July 2019. The Greek Tourism Board believes that this is a real sign of the recovery of the country's tourism sector post-covid situation. They expect 20 billion euros in revenue from foreign tourists this year, up from 18.2 billion in 2019. If you plan to travel abroad in the future, you can definitely put Greece on your list of choices.
